

MASTER OF EDUCATION IN EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP (ONLINE)

Fact Sheet

A principal has the unique opportunity to benefit all students by setting a high standard of excellence for their educators.

If you're a big-picture thinker with the desire to impact students across grade levels, consider becoming a principal with the help of a Master of Education in Educational Leadership from Evangel University. This rigorous yet flexible program allows you to keep teaching while gaining the skills to become an effective building level administrator. Outstanding faculty offer professional mentoring based on years of experience as teachers, reading specialists, principals, researchers, consultants, and district superintendents. Graduates are eligible for principal certification upon completion of the building level administrator licensing exam and MoSLPA task requirements. The program features:

- Extensive preparation for licensing requirements
- Administrative internship experiences

Prerequisites:

- Teaching certification with two years of teaching preferred
- Baccalaureate degree or acceptance into an EU 5-year BS/MS degree program
- GPA of 3.0 or better in last 60 hours of undergraduate work or last two years as full-time undergraduate or graduate student
- Official results of Praxis or GRE
