

Master of Science in Counseling

The following Program Learning Outcomes have been established by Evangel faculty to define the areas of knowledge and skills that students graduating from this major degree program should have developed.

1. Students will demonstrate the knowledge and skills necessary to integrate Christian principles as the foundation for reflective, caring, and ethical counseling practice.
2. Students will demonstrate an understanding of professional counseling through knowledge and practice of ethical, legal, and responsible counseling services.
3. Students will demonstrate knowledge and application of major counseling theories and to individual and group counseling services.
4. Students will demonstrate knowledge and application of effective counseling techniques in order to assist individuals and groups achieve treatment goals.
5. Students will demonstrate an awareness of social and cultural influences on the human experience and the skills needed for culturally sensitive interventions and policies.
6. Students will demonstrate knowledge of basic human development and its impact on the human experience and counseling process.
7. Students will demonstrate knowledge of career development theories and career assessment skills for the purpose of counseling individuals and groups.
8. Students will demonstrate knowledge of group theory and process through didactic and experiential learning as well as the application of group counseling skills.
9. Students will demonstrate knowledge and skills of basic assessment techniques for individuals and group appraisal.
10. Students will demonstrate the ability to read, critique, and evaluate professional research to inform appropriate counseling practice.